This high-tech building was designed in two separate phases. Phase I was Wentz Foot & Ankle Specialists. Phase II was the Veterans Administration Building. These two practicing physicians with different specialties share common facilities which consist of eight exam rooms, one x-ray room, one lab, and a beautifully decorated waiting room. Phase II of the construction of this building was for a state-of-the art technical satellite office for the Veterans Administration, where patients can be examined by a nurse, and through video conferencing, can speak with a physician in any of the hundreds of other VA Hospitals around the country.
